1. What are Cookies?

To put it simply, cookies are small data files that are placed on your computer, smartphone, or other device when you visit a website. They act as a memory for a web page, allowing the site to recognize your device upon your return and remember specific information about your visit.

Cookies generally fall into a few categories:

Session Cookies: These are temporary and are erased the moment you close your web browser. They are essential for keeping you logged in as you navigate from page to page.

Persistent Cookies: These remain on your device for a pre-defined period or until you manually delete them. They help us remember your preferences (like language or theme) for future visits.

First-Party Cookies: These are set directly by our website to ensure core functionality.

Third-Party Cookies: These are set by external services we partner with, such as analytics providers or advertising networks.

2. How and Why We Use Cookies

We use cookies for a variety of reasons, ranging from ensuring our website functions securely to understanding how you interact with our content. We categorize these into Strictly Necessary (Required) and Optional services.

3. Managing Your Cookie Preferences

You have the right to decide whether to accept or reject optional cookies. You can exercise your preferences through our Cookie Consent Banner when you first visit the site.
